Relationships & Sexuality Education
(RSE) Policy

1. Introduction

At Danescourt Primary School we aim to provide children with the knowledge, skills and experiences they need to lead confident, healthy, independent lives and to become informed, active and responsible citizens. Relationships and Sexuality Education (RSE) is a mandatory, core part of this development and forms a part of our wider Curriculum provision. By providing children with an understanding of healthy and respectful relationships and appropriate boundaries, we consider effective RSE to be a fundamental part of our approach to supporting pupils to grow into confident, caring, responsible and respectful young citizens.

At Danescourt Primary School, RSE is taught within the Health and Wellbeing area of learning and experience. In addition, some aspects of the RSE programme will be covered through:

- Science curriculum
- Computing/ ICT
- Circle times/ Well-being sessions
- Assemblies
- Class Stories
- PE in the context of health and hygiene

RSE is lifelong learning about personal, physical, moral and emotional development. It should teach children and young people to develop and form positive values, attitudes, personal and social skills, and increase their knowledge and understanding of how to make informed decisions and life choices.

➤ What is RSE?

RSE is a positive and protective part of the Curriculum for Wales. It plays a central role in supporting learners' rights to enjoy fulfilling, healthy and safe relationships throughout their lives. Central to the Curriculum for Wales is an aspiration for every child and young person to achieve the four purposes of the curriculum. A rights and equity based RSE curriculum helps ensure that all learners can develop an understanding of how people's faith, beliefs, human rights and cultures are related to all aspects of RSE and how these rights can contribute to the freedom, dignity, well-being and safety of all people.

As a school we discuss RSE in the context of the Rights protected by the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child. Within our schools, RSE supports learners to develop the knowledge, skills and values to understand how relationships and sexuality shape their own lives and the lives of others. Learners will be equipped and empowered to seek support on issues relating to RSE and to advocate for self and others.

RSE is a mandatory requirement in the Curriculum for Wales for all learners from age 3 to 16. This means that all learners must receive this education. There is no right to withdraw from RSE.

2. Vision for our RSE Curriculum

The vision for Relationships, Sexuality Education at our schools consists of 10 key aspects that we aim to promote and develop with our pupils.

This is to:

- Provide a consistent standard of relationships, sexuality and health education across the school;
- Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy;
- Promote responsible behaviour; including both online and offline behaviours;
- Create a positive culture of communication around issues of relationships;
- Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies;
- Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place;
- When developmentally ready, prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of sexual development and the importance of health and hygiene;
- Give pupils an understanding of reproduction and sexual development;
- To provide all pupils with knowledge, skills, and attitudes that will enable them to make positive and healthy choices concerning relationships as they grow up and deal with risk;
- Combat exploitation and violence/abuse against women and men alike.

3. Aims of our RSE Curriculum

Our RSE curriculum is embedded within our Health and Wellbeing AoLE and is set out as per Appendix 1, however, this will be adapted when necessary. We have developed the curriculum taking into account the age, needs and feelings of pupils. If pupils ask questions outside the scope of this policy, teachers will respond in an age appropriate manner so they are fully informed and do not seek answers online.

There are 3 National elements that the RSE curriculum is based on.

These are;

- Relationships and identity
- Sexual health and wellbeing (at an developmentally appropriate level)
- Empowerment, safety and respect

Within our school, in order to progressively teach these areas; this forms part of a wider delivery of Health and Wellbeing across the School. The aim of our RSE curriculum at Danescourt is to develop the 3 above elements through our Context for Learning.

This is done in a progressive way across the School (see appendix 1 for a breakdown of what is covered in individual year groups);

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life, taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBTQ+ parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

RSE at Danescourt is led by the mandatory RSE Code which supports schools to design their RSE. The content is set within the context of broad and interlinked learning strands, namely: relationships and identity; sexual health and well-being; empowerment, safety and respect. These strands provide the basis for a curriculum tailored to our learners, making connections and developing authentic contexts for learning across the curriculum.

We are committed to covering the following thematic areas in RSE (as informed by Unesco's 2018 international technical guidance on sexuality education.): relationships; rights and equity; sex, gender and sexuality; bodies and body image; sexual health and well-being; and violence, safety and support in a developmentally appropriate way and through a spiral approach which develops children's understanding over time.

We hope that children will develop the skills and values to lead successful, inclusive and equitable lives. We want children to be given the language to be able to explain and uphold their rights. Restorative approaches at Danescourt Primary are fundamental in ensuring children are able to develop these healthy relationships and empathy skills. We expect that by embedding RSE into our curriculum in a cross curricular approach through all areas of learning experience, children will have the opportunity to enquire, question and explore these themes in a safe, inclusive environment.

4. Roles & Responsibilities

The Governing Body

The governing body has delegated the approval of this policy and will review its arrangements and effectiveness on a regular basis.

The Headteacher

The Headteacher is responsible for ensuring that RSE is taught consistently across the school. The headteacher also:

- Ensures that members of staff are given sufficient training, so that they can teach effectively and handle any difficult issues with sensitivity
- Resources are readily accessible to support teaching and learning
- Monitors this policy on a regular basis and reports to governors on the effectiveness of the policy

Staff

All staff are responsible for:

- Delivering RSE in a sensitive way
- Modelling positive attitudes to RSE
- Responding to the needs of individual pupils
- Monitoring progress

Class teachers are responsible for teaching RSE within Danescourt Primary School.

Teachers will reply to, and answer, children's questions sensitively and openly. They will ensure that balanced information is provided which will take into account the different faiths' views and avoid any negative impressions. Teachers will need to answer questions that may arise through the direct teaching of RSE, as well as those that may be asked at other times. All questions will be handled sensitively and set within a general context. Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSE. Staff who have concerns about teaching RSE are encouraged to discuss this with the headteacher. Questions which teachers feel uncertain about answering should be discussed with a senior member of staff and answered at a later date.

Pupils

Pupils are expected to engage fully in RSE and, when discussing issues related to RSE, treat others with respect and sensitivity. Pupils' views, as always, will be sought as part of our ongoing monitoring and planning for RSE within the school and this will be established through the usual channels already established within the school.

Parents

The school is well aware that the primary role in children's RSE lies with parents and carers. We wish to build a positive and supporting relationship with the parents of children at our school through mutual understanding, trust and cooperation. In promoting this objective we:

- Will carry out our statutory duty to consult with parents and governors on the contents of this policy
- Inform parents about the school's RSE policy and practice (available on the website)
- Answer any questions that parents may have about the RSE of their child; this includes providing opportunities for parents to view the resources that are used in lessons
- Take seriously any issue that parents raise with teachers or governors about this policy or the arrangements for RSE in the school

5. Developmentally Appropriate

Teaching Welsh Government requires that the RSE provided must be 'developmentally appropriate' for learners. Therefore, within our schools, we will always take account of a range of factors such as the learner's age, knowledge and maturity and any additional learning needs. RSE needs to be developmentally appropriate for each learner. The age of learners should be one of the criteria by which teachers decide upon the appropriateness of content; however, there will be other factors they will need to consider when planning for this element of the Curriculum. Factors such as the physical and mental and emotional development of learners should also be taken into account. This is essential to ensuring learners are kept safe from information for which they are not sufficiently mature to process. This, however, should not be a reason for not providing children with the essential information they need as they develop physically, mentally and emotionally; developmentally appropriate RSE requires the coverage of subjects that are integral to learners' development.

6. ALN

The school will ensure that pupils with additional educational needs (ALN) receive Relationships and Sexuality education that appropriately matches their stage of development. Relationships and Sexuality Education will help all pupils to understand their physical and emotional development and enable them to make positive decisions in their lives.

Some parents of children with ALN may find it difficult to accept their children's developing sexuality. Some vulnerable pupils may be more confused about what is acceptable public behaviour. These children will be given more support to develop an understanding of what sorts of behaviour are, and are not, acceptable. This may need to be delivered as additional 1-1 or group support.

In order to meet the individual needs of children with ALN or learning difficulties teachers may need to be more explicit and plan work in different ways the school will take care not to marginalise relationships and sexuality education

7. Whole School Organisation of RSE

Our RSE curriculum will support and build on each learner's knowledge, skills and values in appropriate ways throughout their development and create safe and empowering environments which build on learners' experiences both within and beyond the educational setting providing positive alternatives to some learners' experiences.

Set out below are the key principles regarding how RSE is organised and embedded at our school:

- RSE is part of a whole-school approach and effectively integrated and coordinated across the curriculum. Effective RSE requires specialist expertise, time and resources which the school will regularly evaluate to ensure are in place. This will ensure a supportive environment is created to ensure learners and practitioners are safe to discuss and learn about issues which may be sensitive or challenging.
- RSE will be interdisciplinary and cross-curricular in its approach to content, knowledge and understanding and in the way it is explored. RSE is a broad and complex area that includes biological, social, psychological, spiritual, ethical and cultural dimensions that evolve over the lifespan.
- All practitioners contribute to the school's RSE priorities and professional learning is a key requirement for delivery of high quality RSE. As a school we enable all practitioners to access learning that can support them to develop confidence and knowledge regarding RSE.
- RSE will always be delivered in a way that is inclusive. This helps ensure that all learners can see themselves, their families, their communities and each other reflected across the curriculum and can learn to value difference and diversity as a source of strength. This contributes to a cohesive, fair and equitable society that equips learners with skills for life.
- Provision draws on specialist services and expertise, and we engage with local communities. Our curriculum will always be mindful of the different perspectives and backgrounds within our local community.
- Our approach to RSE will be protective and preventative, considering how learners might need to be supported to:
 - ✓ understand and cope with change, conflicts and pressure;
 - ✓ have the knowledge to recognise discrimination and violence, including Violence against Women and Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence;
 - ✓ seek help and advice where appropriate.

- The teaching of RSE will respond to and be respectful of the lived experiences of learners. The approach to RSE involves recurring themes and topics which reinforce and build on the learners' developing understanding and changing needs and encourages learners to take increasing responsibility for their own learning. Practitioners recognise learners' social, physical, emotional and cognitive development and needs, as well as their evolving knowledge and experience.
- Progression in RSE is a continuous process aiming to improve overall learner well-being and safety and to realise the four purposes. As learners progress, they will build on previous learning: consolidating and strengthening the same dispositions; knowledge and skills and applying them in new, relevant contexts.

8. Delivery of RSE Curriculum

Our Relationships and Sexuality Education programme will be delivered in an developmentally appropriate and sensitive manner by class teachers. Teaching is normally taught in mixed gender groups, though some content is covered in single sex groups e.g. menstrual hygiene, single sex question sessions, etc.

We aim to provide a learning atmosphere where children feel safe and relaxed, and where they feel confident to engage in discussions around potentially sensitive subjects and themes.

Ground rules in class and across the school are essential when discussing sensitive subject matter and teaching RSE. Clear ground rules are established in partnership with the class, then reinforced at the start of each relevant lesson. As a minimum, ground rules are likely to include the following basic guidelines:

- Listen politely to each other
- Everyone gets a turn to speak, if they want to
- Everyone has a right not to speak
- Everyone's contribution is respected
- We don't ask or have to answer any personal questions
- We use anatomically correct language when we have learnt it

Pupil's questions will be dealt with honestly and sensitively and in an age appropriate way. In KS2 classes, a question box will be available for pupils to ask anonymous questions. If staff are faced with a question they do not feel comfortable answering within the classroom, techniques such as distancing, the use of a question box, or creating a time to talk to a child individually will be used. Children may also be signposted back to parents/carers and the teacher will contact the parents/carers to give a context to the conversations that have been held in class. If needed the school can provide additional support links to external agencies or resources that can better support Pupils and their families.

The monitoring and evaluation of delivery of RSE within our school is overseen by the Curriculum Health and Wellbeing lead. This person will be a first point of contact regarding any issues with Curriculum or wider issues that may arise relating to the area of RSE.

Monitoring is carried out on an annual basis, in line with the schools wider MER timetable of activities and Governing Body Annual Curriculum Evaluation. If any questions raise safeguarding concerns, teachers will refer to the Designated Safeguarding Lead.

Since RSE incorporates the development of self-esteem and relationships, pupils' learning does not just take place through the taught curriculum but through all aspects of school life including the playground. It is important then that all staff understand they have a responsibility to implement this policy and promote the aims of the school at any time they are dealing with children.

9. In-School Counselling & Support

Health professionals and specialist external agencies who are involved with our school will enhance the RSE programme. This policy hosts information and links that Parents/Carers and Pupils can access should they wish to discuss things further or seek further information.

10. Confidentiality

Teachers conduct RSE lessons (or lessons that incorporate RSE principles) in a sensitive manner. However, if a child makes a reference/disclosure to being involved, or likely to be involved in sexual activity, then the teacher will take the matter seriously and deal with it as outlined in the Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy.

Teachers will respond in a similar way if a child indicates that they may have been a victim of abuse or exploitation. If the teacher has concerns, they will report as per the school's procedures for safeguarding children.

11. Equalities and Diversity

Schools, like all public institutions, have specific responsibilities in relation to equality and protected characteristics.

Planning and resources are reviewed to ensure they comply with equalities legislation and the school's equal opportunities policy. All RSE is taught without bias and in line with legal responsibilities such as those contained within the Equality Act (2010). Topics are presented using a variety of views and beliefs so that pupils are able to form their own, informed opinions but also respect others that may have different opinions. The personal beliefs and attitudes of staff delivering RSE will not influence the teaching of the subject in school. In our school we seek to recognise and embrace the diverse nature of our community.

We aim to value and celebrate religious, ethnic and cultural diversity as part of modern Wales and Global community. We will explore different cultural beliefs and values and encourage activities that challenge stereotypes and discrimination and present children with accurate information based on the law. We will use a range of teaching materials and resources that reflect the diversity of our community and encourage a sense of inclusiveness.

We do not use RSE as a means of promoting any form of sexual orientation.

12. Monitoring & Review

The delivery of RSE is monitored by the Senior Management Team through, for example, planning scrutinies, learning walks and lesson observations.

Pupils' development in RSE is monitored by class teachers as part of our internal assessment systems. RSE will be monitored and evaluated, in line with all AoLE areas within the school, as part of our annual MER cycle. This policy will be reviewed on a 2 year cycle and approved by the Governing body in line with statutory guidelines.

Appendix 1 - Content of RSE at our Schools Within our schools, our Curriculum for RSE develops progressively as Pupils move from Nursery to Year 6. Our aim is to promote and deliver an RSE curriculum that is developmentally appropriate to the Pupils within the class. The table below highlights the concepts and topics that are covered within the various Year groups across the school;
